

Daniel Okafor

Business Strategist | Consultant | Problem Solver

I help ambitious founders turn business complexity into clarity, structure and sustainable growth.

About Daniel

Daniel works with founders, startups and established organizations that want clearer strategy, stronger systems and more sustainable growth. His consulting approach combines practical strategy, structured problem solving, implementation support and measurable goals.

How Daniel Helps

Engagements can focus on business strategy, growth consulting, market positioning, operational efficiency, systems and automation, team development, expansion planning and ongoing advisory support. The objective is to turn uncertainty into priorities and priorities into action.

Consulting Philosophy

Good advice should be useful in the real world. Daniel emphasizes clear communication, practical plans, realistic execution and regular review so that strategy becomes something a team can actually use.
